WELCOME TO RED CLOUD!

The Red Cloud Area Chamber of Commerce and all of our friendly residents want to welcome you to our community! We have put together this COMMUNITY WELCOME PACKET to provide you with information about our community that can get you familiar a lot faster than having to find everything out by yourself. In addition, we hope that the information provided in this packet will encourage you to take the opportunity to patronize our local merchants, businesses, and organizations. Please get to know them and learn what kinds of goods, services, and activities are available right here in Red Cloud. If you can't find what you're looking for, be sure to ask. Shop Red Cloud first!

Red Cloud, named for the Ogallala Sioux Chief, was founded early in 1871 on homestead land filed upon by Silas Garber and company. When Webster County was later organized, Red Cloud was voted the county seat. The election was held in the dugout of Silas Garber, Nebraska's governor, 1875-79. The mainline of the Burlington and Missouri River Railway reached the town in 1879, accelerating immigration from the East and abroad, bringing together a colorful variety of cultural heritages.

During the 1880's Red Cloud served as a division center for the railroad. The architectural design of downtown was established during the prosperous time when many of the first frame and log structures were replaced by more elaborate two-story buildings of brick and stone. The historic brick streets remain in downtown Red Cloud as well as many of the original buildings, including the majestic and refurbished Opera House and the recently renovated Moon Block which is now the National Willa Cather Center and Archive.

Red Cloud is the hometown of Nebraska's Pulitzer Prize winning author, Willa Cather. Here you can visit her childhood home, her beloved Opera House, and other historic buildings related to her life and writing. Located just east of Red Cloud, the Starke Round Barn is truly an architectural wonder. The massive structure measures 130 feet in diameter, and was built using a nail-free construction method. This eye-catching attraction is the largest in Nebraska and the largest "true" round barn in the world. The Webster County Museum is also housed in Red Cloud. The museum displays the rich heritage of early settlers of the plains of Webster County.

So "WELCOME TO RED CLOUD!" We sincerely hope you will enjoy living here in the Heartland of America as much as we do. If you have internet access, be sure to visit Red Cloud's website at www.redcloudnebraska.com for more information about our city. If you have any questions, need any additional information or help with anything at all, feel free to call, write, or email:

WEBSITE/BUSINESS DIRECTORY

The Red Cloud website was updated in the Spring of 2017 and organized to appeal to visitors and locals alike. Red Cloud is quickly garnering a reputation for being a tourist community and many of the amenities and cultural venues that attract folks from all over the country make the quality of life in Red Cloud exceptional for local residents as well, especially for a town of our size. The website has listings for lodging, dining, and retail and a complete business inventory that we simply do not have the space to reproduce on this welcome packet. Please refer to the website or call Jarrod McCartney at 402-746-4065 for more information about local businesses. You will also find most of the information listed below in our community section of the website, where you can also pay your utility bill, read City Council minutes, and find community calendars, a full listing of major events, and news. Go to www.visitredcloud.com to learn more.
